This book was first published in the United Kingdom in 1946 and in the U.S. in 1947. The TAN edition has been re-typeset, with revisions, using the 1957 edition published by The Newman Press, Westminster, Maryland. The revisions include updating of diction, punctuation, and spelling, along with the correction of occasional errors in typography, spelling, grammar, syntax, diction, and factual information. Scripture citations, which appeared in footnotes in the original, have been inserted into the body of the text. The author's use of the Douay-Rheims Version for such quotations has been retained. Many of the original notes referring to non-biblical texts (which remain as footnotes) contained errors or were incomplete. As far as possible, the errors have been corrected and the missing information has been supplied. In addition, some new notes have been added for clarity or to provide additional information for the contemporary reader.
